MELVIN SIMON
Owner

Born in the Bronx, Melvin Simon first became interested in shopping centers while attending the City College of New York, where he graduated with a degree in accounting. He proceeded to earn a master's degree in business and real estate before he entered the Army and was assigned to its financial center at Fort Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis.

After being discharged from the Army, Simon went to work as a leasing agent for an Indianapolis real estate company involved with some of the first shopping center developments in central Indiana. In June, 1960, he formed his own company, Melvin Simon & Associates, Inc., which as Chairman of the Board he has guided to the position as one of the country's most successful and respected shopping center development firms.

Melvin Simon serves on several shopping center industry committees, including the Board of Trustees of the International Council of Shopping Centers and the Editorial Advisory Board of Shopping Center World Magazine.

His charitable affiliations include serving on the Board of Directors of United Cerebral Palsy and as a former Vice President of the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

He purchased the Pacers on May 9, 1983.

HERBERT SIMON
Owner

A native of the Bronx, New York and a graduate of City College of New York, Herbert Simon came to Indianapolis in the fall of 1959. After working for six months for the Albert Frankel Co., an Indianapolis-based real estate firm, Herb joined his brother Melvin in founding Melvin Simon & Associates, Inc.

Since its modest beginning in 1960, Melvin Simon & Associates has grown to become the nation's second largest owner/manager of shopping centers, with over 42 million square feet of retail space in some 120 malls across half of the country.

In a reorganization effort in 1973, Herb was named President, a position he continues to occupy, devoting full-time to developing enclosed regional malls, renovating existing malls and community plazas and playing a key roll in revitalization of a number of downtown areas. The firm is also actively involved in several mixed-use developments and has many new projects on the drawing board.

As President of a company with the high community profile maintained by Melvin Simon & Associates, Herb finds himself personally involved in a number of community activities. He serves on the Board of Directors of Butler University and the "500" Festival Associates and is a strong patron of the arts, lending support to many of the city's fine cultural institutions.

He purchased the Pacers on May 9, 1983.

DONNIE WALSH
General Manager

Since Donnie Walsh was named executive vice president and general manager of the Indiana Pacers last April, it has been a steady stream of activity for the Pacers on and off the court. And every indication so far points toward improvement in every aspect of the Pacers' organization.

Consider:

• On NBA draft day the Pacers used the No. 4 pick to get Chuck Person, a player many considered to be the most talented in the draft, and got him signed well before the start of training camp.

• In July, George Irvine stepped down as head coach to become the Pacers' director of player personnel (leaving the Pacers with one of the top directors in the league). Walsh went shopping for a coach and bagged none other than Jack Ramsay, the second winningest coach in the history of the NBA.

• It was identified that the Pacers needed a shooting guard. So Walsh went out and got, not one, but two shooting guards, without giving up any regulars or No. 1 draft picks.

• And, following a 26-win season, and the possibility of sagging community interest, Walsh has instilled new enthusiasm throughout Indiana. Season ticket sales are at a nine-year high and the prospects are good of breaking the all-time club attendance record.

And Walsh accomplished all of this before his first team even stepped on the floor for its first regular season game.

Walsh, a Pacers' assistant coach the last two seasons, got into coaching following a highly successful basketball career at the University of North Carolina. He played three years (1958-61) under Frank McGuire (who had coached the Tar Heels to the 1957 NCAA title) and his senior season for then first-year head coach Dean Smith.

Upon graduating from UNC, Walsh attended the North Carolina Law School where he was the associate editor of the Law Review. He had opportunities to join then former Vice President Richard Nixon's New York law firm and the U.S. Justice Department's Honors Program, but he turned them down to take a graduate assistant coaching position under Smith at North Carolina.

A year later, Walsh joined McGuire at the University of South Carolina as associate head coach. He spent 12 years there before deciding to enter law. He passed the Bar Exam in 1977 and was about to enter private practice when Denver Nuggets coach Larry Brown, Walsh's running mate at guard at UNC, convinced him to join the Nuggets' staff. After serving as an assistant coach for a year and a half, he was suddenly thrust into the head coaching spot following Brown's resignation in February, 1979. He guided the Nuggets to a 19-10 record in the final two months of that season and wound up with a 60-82 record in two years as head coach.

Following his stay with Denver, Walsh entered private business. He joined the Pacers as an assistant coach to George Irvine after Irvine was named head coach in the summer of 1984.

Walsh is a native of New York City. He and his wife, Judy, have five children.

RAY COMPTON
Vice President/Marketing

Ray Compton is in his fourth season with the Indiana Pacers as the club's Vice President of Marketing.

Compton joined the Pacers in November, 1982 as Assistant General Manager. He coordinates the ticket marketing, public relations and promotions areas for the Pacers.

He worked for newspapers in Champaign, Ill., Quincy, Ill., and Little Rock, Ark., before joining the Indianapolis News in 1976. He worked for the News for six years, covering Big Ten football and basketball.

He has 25 years of broadcasting experience. Prior to joining the Pacers, he spent 16 years at two radio stations in San Diego as Sales Manager. From 1980-82 Lucas was sports director of WOAI radio and sports anchor of KENS-TV in San Antonio.

Prior to that, he was sports director of WEBR radio in Buffalo, WMBD radio and WMBD-TV in Peoria, and KHVH radio in Honolulu.

In addition to his duties as play-by-play announcer, Lucas also works at WIBC.

He is married and has a son.

EDDIE DOUCETTE
Television Play-By-Play

Broadcasting veteran Eddie Doucette is in his second season as the Pacers' lead play-by-play announcer on WTTV-TV television broadcasts.

Doucette, who has 25 years of broadcasting experience, most recently was the voice of the NBA's Los Angeles Clippers and baseball's Los Angeles Dodgers (ON-TV). The voice of the Milwaukee Bucks for 16 years, it was Doucette who labeled Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's hook shot as the "sky hook".

He also has 13 years of major league baseball announcing experience, doing television work for the Dodgers, Cleveland Indians and Houston Astros and radio with the Milwaukee Brewers and San Diego Padres.

Doucette spent seven years with the USA television network. He handled the announcing duties for the NBA game-of-the-week and for Major League Baseball and college football broadcasts.

KEN DOUBLE
Executive Producer/Broadcasting

With two years under his belt as a Pacer broadcaster, Ken Double will assume the role as host for the Pacer telecasts and broadcasts.

Double joined the Pacers in 1984 after four years at WRTV-TV in Indianapolis. Ken has a number of years of experience as a sports anchor and reporter/producer, including a three-year stint at WLFI-TV in Lafayette, Ind.

This season he will be the pre-game host for the radio broadcasts on WIBC, the host of 25 games on WTTV-TV, and the host and producer of six hour-long Pacer specials to be seen on WTTV.

A native of Chicago, Ken is a concert theatre organist. He is single and lives in Indianapolis.

BOB LEONARD
Television Analyst

While searching for a television analyst for the 1985-86 season, the Pacer front office was looking for someone who knows basketball and is familiar with the franchise. They couldn't have made a better choice than Bobby "Slick" Leonard who served as the Pacers' head coach from 1969-80. In his second season on the air, Leonard is as popular now as he was as a coach.

Leonard, head coach at Indiana for 12 seasons, guided the Pacers to three American Basketball Association championships while posting a 529-456 record. His playoff record is an even more impressive 69-47 for a .595 percentage. In the ABA, the Leonard-led Pacers made it to the league championship series five times in nine years and were the only team to win three championships and the only team to win back-to-back titles.

DICK VITALE
Television Analyst

Back for his third season as a part-time member of the Pacer television broadcast crew is Dick Vitale.

For the past several seasons Vitale has provided color commentary on ESPN college and professional basketball broadcasts. He is also a columnist for Basketball Times and assistant publisher of "Dick Vitale's Basketball," a preseason annual.

Vitale was head coach at the University of Detroit and in four seasons compiled a winning percentage of .722. In 1977, he was named Athletic Director. In 1978 Vitale became head coach of the Detroit Pistons of the NBA.

He and his wife, Lorraine, have two daughters, and reside in Florida.

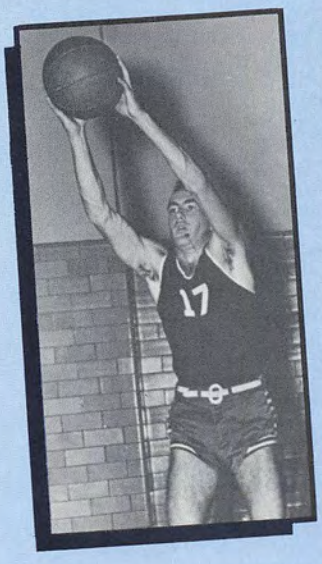
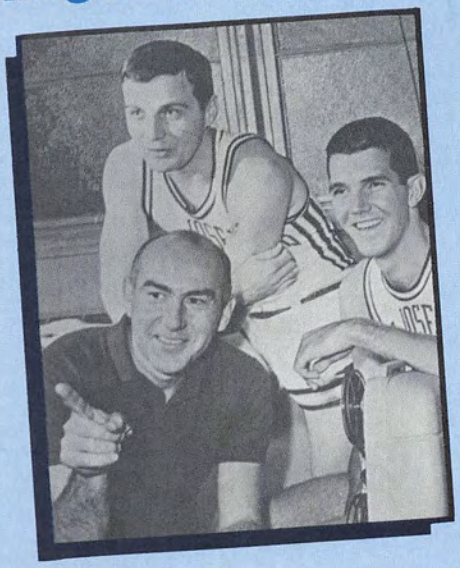
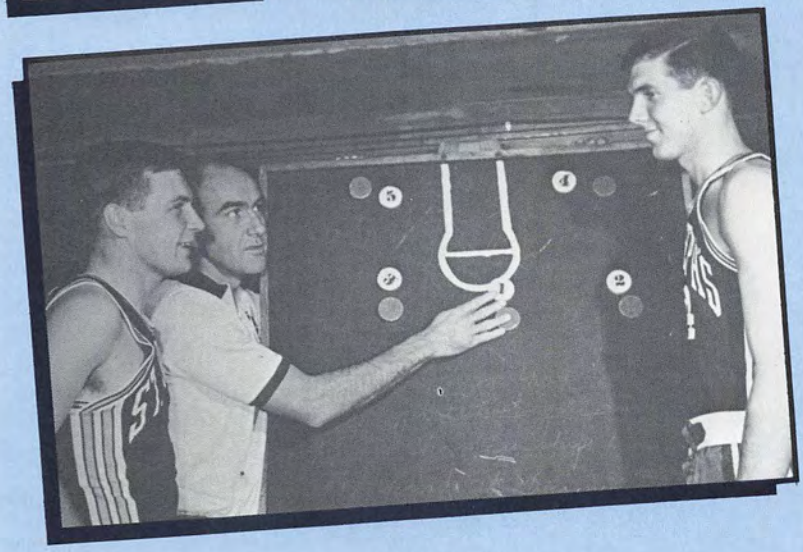
Coaching Staff







JACK RAMSAY
Head Coach

John T. "Jack" Ramsay, the second-winningest coach in National Basketball Association history, was named head coach of the Indiana Pacers on Aug. 8.

Ramsay has won 785 games and lost 691 in 18 seasons as an NBA head coach; his teams have reached the playoffs 15 times and won the NBA championship in 1976-77. Only "Red" Auerbach has won more NBA games (938). Ramsay also won 234 games in 11 college seasons, bringing his lifetime pro and college victory total to 1,019 games.

Ramsay was the head coach of the Portland Trail Blazers for the past 10 seasons, compiling a record of 453-367. He inherited a team in 1976-77 which not only had never made the playoffs in the franchise's six years of existence, but had never had a winning record, either. In his first year there, he guided the Trail Blazers to a 49-33 record and the NBA championship. He followed that with a 58-24 mark in 1977-78, the best record in the league. In 10 seasons at Portland, his team made the playoffs nine times, a string of appearances which is surpassed in the last decade only by Philadelphia and the Los Angeles Lakers.

Ramsay was born Feb. 21, 1925, in Philadelphia. He graduated from high school in Upper Darby, Pa., and attended St. Joseph's University in Philadelphia. He was captain of the basketball team as a senior and graduated in 1949. He later earned a master's degree and a doctorate in education from the University of Pennsylvania.

Ramsay played professional basketball in the Eastern Basketball League for Harrisburg and Sunbury from 1949-55, while coaching at high schools in Chester, Pa., and Wilmington, Del.

He returned to St. Joseph's as the head basketball coach in 1955-56 and guided it to a 234-72 record and 10 post-season tournament appearances in 11 years.

In 1966 he was named general manager of the Philadelphia 76ers and remained in that capacity for two years before returning to coaching for the 1968-69 season. He led Philadelphia to a 55-27 record in his initial pro season. The 76ers made the playoffs three times under Ramsay and had a four-year ledger of 174-154.

He moved to the Buffalo Braves as head coach in 1972-73 and in four years there took teams into the playoffs three times (still the only appearances in the playoffs in the 16-year history of the franchise).

From there he became the head coach of the Portland Trail Blazers in 1977-78.

Ramsay and his wife, Jean, have three daughters and two sons.

DICK HARTER
Assistant Coach

Dick Harter, an assistant coach with the Detroit Pistons for the past three years, was named an assistant coach for the Pacers on Aug. 20.

Harter, 55, helped lead the Pistons to three consecutive winning seasons, the longest streak for the franchise in its 29-year history. He has shown that kind of success everywhere he has been.

As head coach at Penn State University from 1979-83, he had a 79-61 record, including four consecutive winning seasons. As head coach at the University of Oregon, he had a 132-80 record, including a 64-45 win at Pauley Pavillion to snap UCLA's 98-game home court winning streak. Harter's Oregon teams defeated John Wooden's Bruins four times during the Harter tenure (1972-78).

As head coach at the University of Pennsylvania from 1967-71, he had an 88-44 record, including a 53-3 mark in his final two seasons. In 1971, Penn won all of its 28 regular season games and finished the year ranked third in the nation.

And as a rookie head coach at Rider College in 1966, he had a 16-9 record.

Harter is a native of Pottstown, Pa., and graduated from Penn in 1953. He earned three letters in basketball and helped lead his team to two Ivy League titles. After three years in the Marines, Harter became basketball coach at Germantown Academy in Philadelphia for two years. He then spent seven years in a variety of tasks for the University of Pennsylvania's athletic department, from lightweight football coach to assistant basketball coach, before being named head coach at Rider in 1965-66.

In 18 years as a college head coach, Harter was 315-194.

DAVE TWARDZIK
Assistant Coach

Dave Twardzik, a former player under Jack Ramsay for the Portland Trail Blazers, is another new face on the Pacers' coaching staff.

Twardzik played for Portland for four years (1976-77 through 1979-80), including the 1976-77 National Basketball Association championship season. He averaged 9.5 points and 3.4 assists per game in his four-year career there.

Prior to joining Portland in 1976, Twardzik played for four years with the Virginia Squires in the American Basketball Association, where he was a teammate to George Irvine.

He was a Small College All-American guard at Old Dominion in 1972. He helped lead his ODU squad to the finals of the 1971 college division finals before losing to the University of Evansville.

After retiring as a player in 1981 with an injury, Twardzik worked in the Trail Blazers front office. He spent four years as the analyst on the radio broadcasts and the last two seasons as an account executive in the marketing department.

A native of Middletown, Pa., Twardzik, 35, is married and has two children.

MEL DANIELS
Assistant Coach

In his third season as a Pacer assistant is Mel Daniels. The former all-pro and two-time ABA MVP helped lead the Pacers to three ABA titles during his six years with Indiana.

Daniels averaged 19.5 points and 15.9 rebounds per game from 1968-74. He was the ABA Rookie of the Year in '69 and the MVP of the 1971 All-Star game.

A native of Detroit, Michigan, Daniels was an All-American at the University of New Mexico.

Daniels served as an assistant coach at Indiana State University from 1978-82 and was part of ISU's 33-1 NCAA championship runner-up team in 1978-79. Former Sycamore star Larry Bird credits Daniels with preparing him for the NBA.

Mel, an avid horseman, and his wife CeCe live in Indianapolis.

GEORGE IRVINE
Director of Player Personnel

George Irvine may have a different title, but he is still important to the overall success of the Indiana Pacers. As director of player personnel, Irvine will be in charge of scouting college players as potential draft picks, current NBA players and anybody else who can play the game, from the CBA to Europe to AAU leagues.

Irvine spent the last two seasons as the Pacer's head coach, compiling a record of 48-116. He joined the Pacers organization in 1980 and spent three seasons as an assistant coach to Jack McKinney. In 1983 he became responsible for the Pacer draft efforts as the vice-president/director of Basketball Operations.

Following the 1983-84 season, he was named head coach, succeeding McKinney.

A native of Seattle, Irvine is a 1970 graduate of the University of Washington. He completed his career as the Huskies fifth all-time scorer and career field goal percentage leader (.558).

A third round draft pick of the Virginia Squires in 1978, Irvine played five seasons as a guard/forward for the American Basketball Association club. He averaged 9.6 points in his 325 game pro career, hitting nearly 52 percent of his field goal attempts and 83 percent of his free throw shots.

Following the 1974-75 season, Irvine was acquired by the Denver Nuggets along with the rights to David Thompson from Virginia for Mack Calvin, Mike Green and Jan van Breda Koff. He played only three games for Denver due to a knee injury which cut short his pro career. He spent part of the 1975-76 season teaming with Al Albert as an analyst on Nuggets radio broadcast.

Irvine began the 1976-77 season as a part-time assistant coach under Larry Brown at Denver. In mid-season he was promoted to a full-time assistant coaching position. He spent the next three seasons (1977-80) as a Nuggets Assistant coach under Brown and current Pacer General Manager Donnie Walsh.

George and his wife, Joan, have two sons.

MARKET SQUARE ARENA

Market Square Arena, built by the city of Indianapolis and completed in 1974, is one of the premier sports and entertainment showplaces in the midwest.

The building was designed by Kennedy, Brown and Associates and constructed by Huber, Hunt and Nichols, Inc. Ground breaking ceremonies were held October 20, 1971, and September 15, 1974 the building was officially opened. The Pacers fell to San Antonio, 129-121, in double overtime in their first appearance in the building on October 18, 1974.

Five nights later, October 23, 1974, saw Indiana take its first victory in its "new" home as the Pacers dumped the Spirits of St. Louis, 122-107.

Market Square Arena highlights include the 1980 NCAA basketball semifinals and finals; the 1978 and 1979 NCAA basketball Mid-East Regionals; NBC's All-Star Saturday in 1985; the annual Indiana state high school basketball and wrestling championships and Elvis Presley's last concert on June 26, 1977.

In the summer of 1982, MSA and the city of Indianapolis hosted the National Sports Festival's basketball and hockey finals as well as speedskating and figure skating competition. MSA will be the site of all the men's and women's basketball competition in the 1987 Pan American Games.

NBA PLAYOFF STRUCTURE

The following is the NBA playoff format and tie-breaking procedure for the 1986-87 NBA season:

1. Sixteen teams shall qualify for the playoffs. There shall be eight teams from each conference, consisting of the two division champions and the six other teams in each conference with the best winning percentage during the regular season.

2. The first round of the playoffs shall be a best-of-five series with all succeeding rounds, including the NBA World Championship Series, being best-of-seven. All teams will participate in the first round: byes that formerly went to division winners have been eliminated.

Following are the playoff pairings:

Note: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the better record. Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

PLAYOFF TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURE

In order to break a two-team tie for playoff positions, the following criteria will be used:

a) Results of games against each other
b) Better winning percentage within own conference
c) Better winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division)
d) Better winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference
e) Point differential in games against each other
f) Better point differential between offense and defense

A multiple-team tie will be broken in the following manner:

a) Best cumulative winning percentage in total games involving all teams tied
b) Best winning percentage within own conference
c) Best winning percentage within own division (only if tied teams are in same division)
d) Best winning percentage against playoff opponents in own conference
e) Best point differential between offense and defense

If a multiple-team tie is reduced to a two-team tie at any point using the above criteria, the two-team tie will be resolved in accordance with the existing two-team tie-breaking procedure.

PACERS' LONG SHOT ARTISTS

The Indiana Pacers have a knack for hitting long shots. And we do mean l-o-n-g!

It was Jerry Harkness who on Nov. 13, 1967, in Dallas hit an 88-foot shot, the longest in the history of professional basketball.

Then, on Jan. 8, 1986, in Market Square Arena, Herb Williams connected on an 81-footer, the second longest field goal in NBA history.

Harkness, who played just 81 games in the ABA, had reported in for an injured Freddie Lewis just moments before taking an inbounds pass with two seconds to go. The Pacers trailed Dallas by two points.

"I was near the baseline and the sideline and I just heaved the ball with all I had, the length of the court," Harkness recalled. "The buzzer went off, and then it hit the backboard and went right in the basket. Everyone was stunned. The fans stopped screaming and we all thought the game was going into overtime. It must have been five seconds before we realized that the basket was a three-point goal and that we had won."

Williams got his shot just before halftime against Sacramento. He grabbed a rebound in the paint, spun around and flung a one-hander the length of the court. Chicago's Norm Van Lier is credited with hitting the longest shot in the NBA—84 feet. It came on Jan. 19, 1977 at San Antonio.

You don't have to ask some people to give more of themselves. That's just the kind of people they are. You'll find them in cities and towns just like yours, rolling up their sleeves and pitching in where help is needed most.

You'll find Hook's Pharmacists-In-Green out there, too. And whether they volunteer on the neighborhood basketball court or the nearby blood bank, their involvement brings them a little closer to you and your family.

You've always known Hook's pharmacists are an important part of your health care needs. It's good to know they're an important part of your community, too. We like to see you smile.
